SIEM REAP PROVINCE

Siem Reap is more than a gateway to ancient temples. It is a living city shaped by resilience, ritual, and the quiet beauty of everyday life. Beneath its surface lies a rhythm of family kitchens, morning markets, and stories passed down in the scent of simmering broth.

This 3-course menu is an expression of that rhythm. Each course draws from ingredients that define the land – unpolished, sincere, and deeply Cambodian. It is a way of tasting the city not through its monuments, but through its memories.

KAMPOT PROVINCE

Kampot is a riverside town where tradition shapes every flavor. From the depths of the sea to the warmth of the soil, its ingredients speak of patience and place. The seafood is fresh and full of character, the fish sauce is aged for three to seven years in quiet jars, and the black pepper is sun-dried to preserve its delicate heat.

This 4-course menu brings those elements together in harmony. Each dish is guided by the spirit of the region, combining richness with restraint and offering a taste that is both grounded and unforgettable.

BATTAMBANG PROVINCE

Along the Sangker River, Battambang reveals itself in layers. Once a vital Khmer stronghold and later touched by French colonial influence, the city today remains a graceful blend of cultures and time. Its architecture stands still while its kitchens keep moving, rooted in the soil and guided by tradition.

This six-course menu captures that essence. It honors the abundance of the land and the quiet sophistication of the city, offering a taste of Battambang that is both deeply traditional and quietly refined.
